Hang the piece of pressboard, from first one hole and then another, from the rigid wall mount over the chalk board. Vertical lines through the points of suspension all pass through a common point, the center of gravity.